American Proficiency Institute recognizes the importance of keeping your laboratory's identity and performance history confidential. Your enrollment information and individual performance data are available only to you unless otherwise requested. Data distributed by API to program participants and other interested parties is limited to aggregate result values from all participants, without any identifying information.

If you allow API to share enrollment and performance information with your distributor, the distributor can help monitor due dates, see testing instructions, and assist with other questions in your language and time zone. Please complete and return this form to GlobalCustomerService@api-pt.com to allow your distributor access to enrollment and performance information.
